

Alternative splicing encodes IDRs in TFs vs non-TFs: same mechanism, larger magnitude

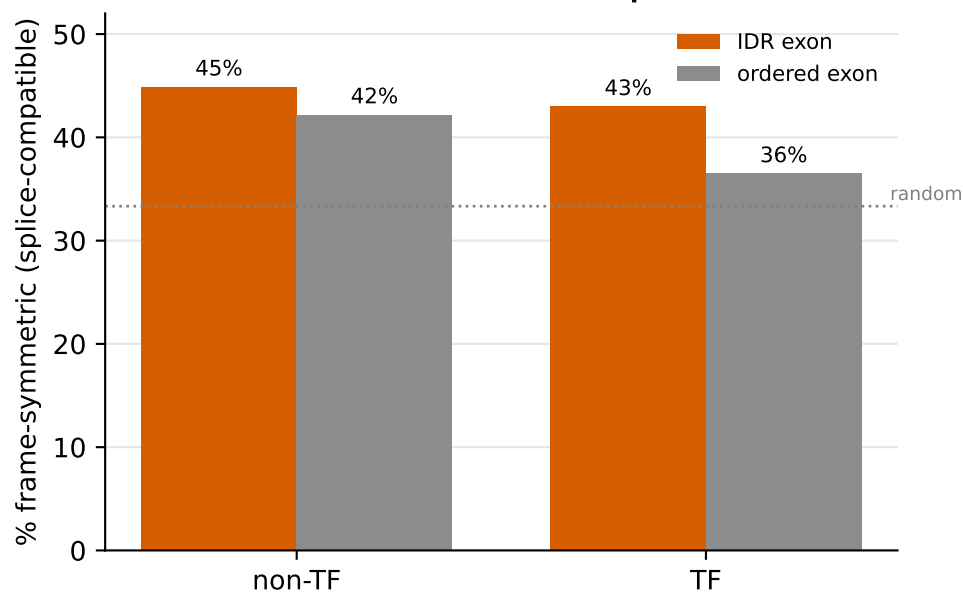

A Alternative exons preferentially encode IDR — in both groups

B TF exons encode far more disorder per exon

C TF IDR exons are more often clean splice cassettes

D TFs are markedly more disordered overall

